

Contents

Dedication	v
Foreword: Learning from the Tails Nassim Nicholas Taleb	ix
Introduction - Resistance is Not Futile	1
Part I: WHY – From Exercise Prescription to Training Program
Jonathon M. Sullivan
1 The Sick Aging Phenotype	5
2 Exercise Medicine	17
3 From Prescription to Program: Safety and Dosing	25
4 Enduring Resistance, Resisting Endurance: Comprehensive Training	33
5 Specificity and Effectiveness: Your Physiological 401k	55
6 Simplicity and Efficiency: From Black Iron to Grey Steel	71
Part II: WHAT – An Introduction to the Exercises
Jonathon M. Sullivan &amp; Andy Baker
7 Elementary Iron	81
8 A Brief Overview of the Squat	91
9 A Brief Overview of the Deadlift	103
10 A Brief Overview of the Press	111
11 A Brief Overview of the Bench Press	117
12 A Brief Overview of the Power Clean and Power Snatch	125
13 Assistance Exercises	133
Part III: HOW – Programming for Strength and Conditioning
Andy Baker &amp; Jonathon M. Sullivan
14 Programming	145
15 Adaptation	151
16 Recovery: The Forgotten Training Variables	157
17 Elements of Program Design and Execution	169
18 Athlete-Program Categories: Novice, Intermediate, and Beyond	179
19 The Novice Master	185

20	The Novice Over 60 and Common Novice Variants	199
21	The Novice Over 70 and Remedial Variants	213
22	The Intermediate Master	223
23	The Texas Method	233
24	Heavy-Light-Medium and Split Programs	253
25	The Advanced Master	269
26	Conditioning	277
27	The Female Master	293
	Acknowledgements	301
	Notes	303
	Glossary	315
	Bibliography	325
	Authors	343
	Index	345